

Mesa Pathways funded excellent opportunities to learn, grow, and advance our equity and excellence work.

In July, over 30 faculty participated in the Curriculum Equity & Excellent Review (CEER) workshop led by Chris Sullivan and Janue Johnson. Participants examined the terms: equity and excellent and how this shapes curriculum. The group explored data through an equity lens and worked to develop impactful teaching strategies. Thank you to the team who developed this workshop. Look for future opportunities to engage in a CEER workshop.

In August, 35 participants met for a two-day CPL 101 workshop. CPL, or Credit for Prior Learning, supports students' journeys and benefits them through the equitable means of acknowledging and honoring prior knowledge, training, and experience.

Candace Rose and Benjamin Mudgett from Palomar College shared their journey of CPL. Dean Shelly Hess and Curriculum Committee Chair Andrew Hoffman explained the CPL and Curriculum processes. Thank you to Toni Parsons and the CPL Champions who created this informative workshop.

Ian Duckles, Gina Abbiate, and Trina Larson have been researching frameworks for Student Success Teams and how these may inform those developed at Mesa. This Fall, the campus will have opportunities to learn and share ideas about Student Success Teams. Information on how and when you might participate is forthcoming.

Pathways is back and looking forward to a productive semester. If you are interested in becoming involved in a workgroup or project team, please reach out to MesaPathways@sdccd.edu.
